Contract experience

Jeremy has experience of all principal main contracts including JCT, ICE, FIDIC, NEC, GC/Works, I CHEM E, sub-contracts including DOM/1, DOM/2 and numerous bespoke forms used in international and domestic construction, energy and infrastructure projects.

General experience

Jeremy has specialised in construction energy and engineering law and related matters for most of his career. He has acted in contentious and non-contentious matters, across a broad range of construction sectors both at home and abroad including process plant, industrial, hotel, leisure, health, residential and office. Typical issues dealt with include contract formation, defects, certification and payment issues, disruption, loss and/or expense, prolongation, determination or repudiation and insolvency.

He is an accredited adjudicator and regularly advises on both the conduct of adjudication and the enforcement of adjudicator's decisions in the courts. Jeremy is also increasingly involved in the dispute resolution opportunities offered by mediation, expert determination and other forms of ADR.

Career

Jeremy graduated from York University with an honours degree in history before studying for the CPE and Law Society finals at Trent Polytechnic, Nottingham. He was articled at Fishburn Boxer, then spent a period on secondment with Ebsworth & Ebsworth in Sydney. He joined Fenwick Elliott in January 1997 and was made a partner in 2002.

Other activities

Jeremy is the co-author of Understanding The New FIDIC Red Book: A Clause by Clause Commentary. He also works with Robert Fenwick Elliott preparing annual updates of Building Contract Disputes: Practice and Precedents. Jeremy organises and regularly addresses the six-monthly Fenwick Elliott adjudication seminars. He edits Fenwick Elliott's monthly legal bulletin, Dispatch, and regularly contributes to the Construction Industry Law Letter and other journals.

Memberships

Jeremy is a member of the Technology & Construction Solicitors Association, the Society of Construction Law and is the secretary of the London Branch of the Adjudication Society.
